HUNGARIAN from Edenic

[help from: Ralph Tedesco, Regina Werling, Dr. Alfred Toth, Alfred Hamori]

Like Estonian, Finnish and Saami (of Lapland), Hungarian or Magyar is Uralic and not an Indo-European language. Because of its proximity to Slavic and European lands, there are many borrowed terms. We avoid obvious borrowings, but the borrowed CIGAR became a SZIVAR.

Key to romanized Hebrew Aleph-Bet:

Vowels in lower case. Root letters in Upper Case with [brackets] around unpronounced letters or non-historic ones in the derivative language. 5 Hebrew letters have end-forms.

Aleph = A or any Upper Case VOWEL, Bet = B, Bhet = BH or (V), Gimel = G, Dalet = D
Hey = H, Vav = V, OO or OA, Zayin = Z,
Het = [K]H or K[H], Tet = DT, Yod = Y, Kahf , K, Khaf = KH, Lamed = L, Mem , =
M, Noon, = N, Samekh = $, Ayin = bracketed UPPER CASE [VOWEL] or GH, Pey , =
Phey = PH or F, Zaddi , = TS (always read ST in European), Koof = Q, Raish = R or WR, Shin = SH, Sin = S, Tahf = T, TH, or (S)

Symbol Key:

< is “ultimately from the Edenic word ____.”

The [bracketed] word at end of an entry indicates the relevant entry in the E-Word Digital Dictionary (Edenics.org). Entries give Biblical citations, Hebrew and world related words.

S = letter shifts: [all vowels are interchangeable, no shifts needed]
S-B = bilabial shift [interchangeable lip letters: B, F,P,PH, V, W],
S-F = fricative shift, [interchangeable whistling letters: Soft C,S,SH,TS,Z]
S-G = guttural shift [interchangeable throat letters: Hard C,G,K,Q]
S-D = dental shift [interchangeable tooth letters: D, T, TS]
S-N = nasal shift [interchangeable nose letters: M,N]

N = nasalization (extra M or N inserted in the root).

M = metathesis (root letters switch places). Example: M132 means that merk (to mark takes the 1st, 3rd, then 2nd root consonant of , to recognize (shift from Noon/N to M) and MaKeeYR (acquaintance)

rev. = reverse the (root letters of) the Edenic source word

B = a borrowing from another modern language
